RESEARCH WORK

Research work is carried out within the framework of the following project:

The initiative research project " Kyzylorda civil service hub as an improvement in the efficiency of training civil servants " is focused on the implementation of the main directions of further development of the civil service established by the concept for the development of the civil service of the Republic of Kazakhstan for 2024-2029.

The aim of the project is to analyze and evaluate models of public services adapted to international practice, as well as to determine the directions for the development of public services in the region.

According to the project, it is planned to study various models of civil service in foreign countries, their advantages and disadvantages. Taking into account international experience, it is aimed to determine promising directions for improving the civil service.

The examination of scientific papers and the analysis of the state experience of foreign countries shows that to date, several models of Public Service have been formed. Each of these models is formed taking into account the development of national legislation and public relations in a particular country. The work carried out on the project is aimed at providing optimal options for the public service system for the region, making proposals to improve the efficiency of the methods of work of civil servants.
